PVC Imitation Marble Sheet Machine

In home decoration, imitation marble slabs are needed when it comes to Roman columns and spiral staircases, which can bring different decorative effects to the room.

The main material of the imitation marble board is UV board. After processing, it is lighter in weight, so there is no need to worry about the bearing capacity of the floor, and the installation is very simple.

In the production process of imitation marble slabs, environmentally friendly coatings are used. The formaldehyde content is very low, which is relatively environmentally friendly. After passing a special process, the durability is very strong.

Since the imitation marble slab is made of special materials, the effect it brings is similar to that of natural marble, and it cannot be identified without careful observation.
